

Servant Leadership Makes a Difference

KAIRS Annual Administrators Conference

February 12-13, 2018 | The Capitol Plaza Hotel | Topeka, KS

February 12, 8:30 am – 5 pm | February 12, 6 pm – Hall of Fame Banquet
February 13, 7:30 – 11 am

Servant leadership is a concept that was largely introduced to the public by Robert Greenleaf in the 1970s. It turned the hierarchical leadership pyramid upside down with the leader focusing on serving others in order to create a highly productive workplace where all stakeholders benefited and people performed at their best. What does that look like for your school, for the classroom, for the community and even for your home?

Come listen to what Tom Thibodeau, Distinguished Chair of Servant Leadership at Viterbo University has to share about servant leadership. Tom is the founder of the Master's degree in Servant Leadership – the only master's degree of its kind in the nation.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Tom Thibodeau has taught for 34 years at Viterbo University, a small Franciscan liberal arts and sciences university in La Crosse, Wisconsin. Tom is a husband, father, grandfather, teacher, active community servant and part owner of a country tavern.

“In the workplace, the practice of Servant Leadership brings a sense of purpose and engagement. It's all about what is right, good, and just. It's something people will really respond to and it's practical because you'll see the results.”

– Robert Greenleaf
